Jackpotting Automated Teller Machines Redux

The presentation "Jackpotting Automated Teller Machines" was originally on the schedule at Black Hat USA 2009. Due to circumstances beyond my control, the talk was pulled at the last minute. The upside to this is that there has been an additional year to research ATM attacks, and I'm armed with a whole new bag of tricks.

I've always liked the scene in Terminator 2 where John Connor walks up to an ATM, interfaces his Atari to the card reader and retrieves cash from the machine. I think I've got that kid beat.

The most prevalent attacks on Automated Teller Machines typically involve the use of card skimmers, or the physical theft of the machines themselves. Rarely do we see any targeted attacks on the underlying software.

Last year, there was one ATM; this year, I'm doubling down and bringing two new model ATMs from two major vendors. I will demonstrate both local and remote attacks, and I will reveal a multi-platform ATM rootkit. Finally, I will discuss protection mechanisms that ATM manufacturers can implement to safeguard against these attacks.

俄罗斯警方近日破获了一起高科技犯罪活动,并分别在雅库茨克和莫斯科将该团伙的四名成员缉拿 归案。这群黑客涉嫌黑掉了整个雅库茨克城市的所有ATM提款机,雅库茨克总人口约21万。

这个犯罪团伙的四人分工明确,其中一人在莫斯科负责开发ATM破解程序,之后另外三人在雅库茨克利用开发出来的ATM病毒实施犯罪活动。这三人中有一位曾是某企业IT部门主管,有一人曾担任系统管理员,总之在这方面比较有经验,另外一人则主要负责管理获得的钱财。
