The screenshot shows a Git client window titled "TOTP" on a Mac. The interface is split into three main sections: a sidebar on the left, a top navigation bar, and a main commit list on the right.

Sidebar (Left): Shows the repository structure. Under "TOTP", there are "Branches" (master (current), icons, beta) and "Tags" (Betas: Beta-4, Beta-3, Beta-2, Beta-1; Releases: v1.1, v1.0, v0.5, v0.4, v0.3, v0.2, v0.1; Remotes). The "Beta-4" tag is currently selected.

Top Bar: Shows the current branch as "TOTP > Branches > master". It includes filters for "All", "Last 24 Hours", "Last 7 Days", and "Last 30 Days", along with a "Filter" input field.

Commit List (Right): A list of recent commits, each with a user profile picture, name, commit message, tags, commit hash, and date.
